The Marriage of Miss Heaven and Mr. Morang.

The Cabinet Receptions, the Teas and the Weddings of a Day-

President and Mrs. Cleveland will entertain the diplematic corps at dinner tonight, and have asked some intimate friends from out of town to meet the ameassadors, ministers and ladies.

Pesonal Notes

the marriage of Miss Sophie Langworthy Heaven and Mr. George N. Morang of Toronto. The chancel was set with palms, and on the altar there were vases of white lilies amid the green. The ushers were Mr. W. P. Hill of Oakland, Fla.; Mr. McCormick of Baltimere, Mr. Justin Sypher of Philadelphia and Mr. Hasbrouck of Washington. The bridesmaids were Miss Heaven and Miss Adela Heaven, and Miss Nellie Sowers and Miss Curtis of Albion, N. Y. Two of the ushers led the bridal party to the chancel, followed by the maids and the ushers in alternate couples. The maid of honor, Miss Alice M. Heaven, walked in advance of the bride, who entered with her uncle, Mr. Walter W. Palmer of this city. At the chancel gate the groom and his best man, Mr. F. F. Peard of Baltimore, awaited the bride's coming. Rev. J. A. Aspinwall, rector of the church, performed the ceremony. The tollets of the bride and her attendants were very pretty. The bride was gowned in white satin, the skirt having a long spray of orange blossoms down the left side. Over the puffed sleeves was a bertha of the satin, covered with point lace, with sprays of orange blossoms on either side. A diamond and oral breoch, the gift of the bridegroom, was worn. The tulle veil fell from a wreath of orange blessems, and she carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. The maid of honor wore pale green silk and chiffon, with Venetian lace, and carried a bouquet of maidenhair fern. The Misses Heaven wore pink silk, the bodices draped with berthas of chiffon and lace, and carried Waterville roses, and the Misses Sowers and Curtis were in brocaded white satin, made with lace berthas, and carried Catherine Mer met roses. Mrs. Heaven wore silver gray satin, trimmed with heliotrope velvet and point lace. A reception followed at the residence of Mrs. Heaven, 2000 R street, which was largely attended. The drawing rooms were richly decorated with flowers, and the newly married couple eceived under a bower of palms. In the dining room the table had a centerpiece of pink tulips, and the tapers burned under pink shades. Among those present at the reception were Solicitor General and Mrs. Maxwell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dulin, Col. and Mrs. Rutherford, Dr. and Mrs. Lane, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Green, Dr. and Mrs. Eale, Mrs. Finley, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kauffmann, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hodgkins, Dr. and Mrs. Elliott Coues, Mrs. J. S. Whitehead, Miss Barrington of Philadelphia, Miss Kauffmann, Miss Chambers, Mrs. J. W. Pilling, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pilling and Miss Pilling, Col. and Mrs. Parker, Col. and Mrs. O. G. Staples, Dr. and Mrs. Sowers, Mr. W. Freeman Clark, Mr. Shuglo, Miss Nelile C. lones of Philadelphia, who is a guest of the family; Mr. and Mrs. George Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Binney, also of Philadelphia; Miss Peard, Mr. Leslie Peard, Judge Wm. Haydon of Philadelphia and Miss McCormick of Baltimore and Mrs. and Miss Soule. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Morang started on their wedding trip, the bride traveling in a dark brown and green cloth, with a stylish wrap of velvet to match, trimmed with mink. Their future home will

Another pretty wedding took place last night at the Vermont Avenue Christian Church, Miss Fannie C. Power and Rev. John M. Helm, pastor of the Church of the Disciples, Ashland, Va., were married by the bride's brother, Rev. Dr. Power, pastor of the church. The ushers were Messrs. Frank Moore, Ernest Sparks, Will Schell and Harry Steir. Miss Mary E. Power was maid of honor, gowned in pink silk and lace. The bride wore white silk, hand-somely trimmed with pearl passementeries. Wyville. A large reception followed at the pastoral residence, several hundred members of the church, with other friends, being present. The date was also the forty-fourth birthday of Rev. Dr. Power. The newly mar-ried couple received the congratulations of this large company before departing for their future home. Mrs. Power was assisted also by Mrs. J. M. Chadsey, Mrs. W. H. Schell, Miss Susanne Moore, Miss Marion Hickman and Miss Mary E. Power in entertaining the guests.

ut during the calling hours it seemed to blow pleasantly enough towards the cabihouses, whose hostesses greeted ormous throngs of visitors, recalling the old-time activity in these matters. Mrs. Gresham was assisted by Mrs. Hazen, Mrs. Charles Spaulding, Mrs. and Miss McCammon and Miss Heien Benedict, who is Mrs.

Cleveland's guest. Secretary Carlisle was at home to assist his wife, and the reception was a crowded one. Mrs. Perrine, Mrs. J. Davies Jones, ceive tomorrow, assisted by a number of Secretary Carlisle was at home to assist one. Mrs. Perrine, Mrs. J. Davies Jones, Mrs. Egington, Miss Queen, Miss Helm, Miss Jane Hamlin, Miss Deering, Miss Davis, Miss Vilas, Miss Aline Wilcox, Miss Kountze, Miss Lockwood, Miss Hull and Miss Cornelia Jackson assisted. Miss Curtis poured tea, and her guest, Miss Scudder, served coffee, Mrs. Lamont had a very large reception and had an especially attractive group of ladies to meet her callers, among them being Mrs. I. Dever Warner of Bridgeport, Mrs. George F. Dimmick of New York, Mrs. Frank Goodyear of Buffalo, Mrs. Schoffeld, Mrs. Bliss, Mrs. Charles Tracey, Mrs. George Davis, Mrs. Statsenburg, Mrs. Thomas Nelson Page, Mrs. Woods, Miss Katherine Willard, Miss Sheridan, Miss Gilmore, Miss Steele, Miss Hopk ns, Miss Reed and Miss Ruggles. During the afternoon Miss Kate Hopkins, whose engage-ment to Mr. Horace Wylie has just been announced, received showers of good wishes from those who heard the rumor as it cir-

ulated round the room. Mrs. Olney had another of the pleasant receptions and had Mrs. Bowler, Miss Lee of Boston, Miss Hamlin, the Misses Gray, Miss Harlan and Miss Hunt to assist her. Mrs. Bissell, herself a charming hostess, had the pleasing companionship for the afternoon of Mrs. Licard, Mrs. Thurber, Mrs. Train, Mrs. Fitch, Miss Patterson, Miss Geraldine Morgan, Miss Hagner, Miss Patten, Miss Harlan, Miss Miller and the Misses Jewel. The drawing rooms were thronged during the entire time. At the residence of the Secretary of the Navy Miss Herbert was agreeably assisted by her grandmother, Mrs. Washington Smith, Mrs. Micou, sr., Miss Phoenix, Miss Volle, Miss Wilcox and Miss Jackson. No more agreeable quarter of an hour was spent anywhere than with Miss Morton, who was assisted by her niece, Miss Cressy of Detroit, Mrs. Wing of Detroit, who is the guest of Mrs. David S. Barry, and the latter's sister, Miss Barry. The teas yesterday afternoon were the features of the late hours. Mrs. Gray, wife of Justice Gray, was the hostess of a small

LORD CHURCHILL DEAD.

Upavailing Struggle Against a Stubborn Disease. Lord Randolph Churchill died this morning in London. His death was painless and he passed away in the presence of Drs.

comatose state for two days.

Rose and Keith, with the members of the Lord Randolph Churchill. Lord Randolph Henry Spencer-Churchill was the second son of the seventh Duke of Marlborough. He was born on February 13, 1849, and was educated at Merton College. Oxford. He represented Woodstock in the house of commons from February, 1874, until April, 1880, and again from that time (when he was returned with a diminished majority) until November, 1885. He afterward stood for Birmingham, but was defeated and was then returned for South

Paddington. From 1874 to 1880 he was almost silent in the house, but from 1880 onward he made himself conspicuous in the house and on public platforms by the violence of his speeches against the liberal party, and he was the chief member of that small section of the house known as "fourth party." On the accession of Lord Salisbury's government to office in 1885, Lord Randolph Churchill filled the post of secretary of state for India, and his promotion to that high place was a proof of the importance that he had assumed in the ranks of the conservative party. In the country, indeed, handsomely decorated and abundantly served table was the attraction in the dining room. Among the guests were Ministraction in the dining room. racy.

Lord Randolph's short tenure of the India office was marked by the annexation of Up-per Burmah. Departmental work, however, did not prevent his taking a great part in the struggle, which, at the general elections of November, 1885, again returned the liberals to power. He resigned office with Lord Salisbury, to return, after six months, as chancellor of the exchequer and leader of the house of commons; but to the surprise of all he resigned suddenly in December of the same year.

Lord Randolph married, in 1874, Miss

Jennie Jerome, daughter of the late Leonard Jerome of New York. She has since become a prominent member of the Primrose League. Lord and Lady Randolph Churchill visited this country for the first ber of relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Larner welcomed a continued westward on a tour of the world, large company also to their pleasant home, from which they returned, landing at Marwhich was decorated with palms, smilax and pink carnations. the trip around the world seems to have done him no more good than did a pre-vious long trip to South Africa, where he joined health-seeking with business, and in so doing made ar investigation into the mining interests of Mashonaland, which, according to report, caused him to lose much money.

Lord nd Lady Randolph Churchill reached London on Monday, December 24, from Marseilles, and the former's condition was then so feeble that he had to be lifted from the rallroad car to his carriage. It was said that he was suffering from general paralysis. Lord Randolph, during his tour of the world, had a physician in constant attendance upon him, and, in addition, he had been treated since his return to Europe by two other physicians. But the consultations held between the three physicians do not seem to have re-sulted in prolonging the patient's life for any length of time, and he died at his residence, 50 Grosvenor Square, London, where he was conveyed after his return to London. Lord Randolph Churchill leaves a widow, who has shown herself a most de-voted attendant upon him during his last illness, and two sons, Winston Leonard, born in 1874, and John Henry, born in 1880.

Short Story Club. The parlors at Willard's last evening were filled by the members of the Short Story Club and their friends, and an excellent program was presented. Miss Corinne Hay read an original story, entitled "On James Creek," which contained some well-drawn characters and some excellent descriptive work. The reading was carefully followed, and at its close Miss Hay was warmly congratulated for her effort. Dr. W. A. Croffut established his rep-utation as a humorist, Mr. John Tweedale gave two excellent readings and Mrs. Roberts contributed a recitation. The musical selections were above the average, some of them being remarkably well rendered. Miss Julia Widdows gave a piano solo; Miss Lavinia Milliken sang a "Hindoo Song," displaying a contraito voice of good quality; Miss Mary Helen Howe's fine prano voice was heard to good advantage in the Cavatina from "Robert le Diable. and in Bischoff's "Supposing," which she gave as an encore; Miss Mary J. Turner sang "The Sea Hath Its Pearls" effectively; Miss Margaret Blaine sang "Answered" in good style, and there was a solo by Mrs.
